Hospital Bond Need Detailed In New Series

Nearly $2-Million Sought to Finance Hospital Growth

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of five explanatory articles on the Jan. 5 Desert Hospital District bond election.)

By AL LE ANCE

Taxpaying residents of the sprawling Desert Hospital District will soon cast ballots on a bond issue calculated to help their hospital meet the impact of what has been termed the most critical period of its eight-year history.

On Tuesday, Jan. 5, district voters will be asked to authorize a $1,914,410 bond issue designed to provide hospital facilities capable of serving an area marked by a tremendous, seemingly overnight population growth.

BASICALLY, THE bond issue building program will provide rooms for a total of 108 hospital beds. It will also upgrade attendant hospital facilities to a point where they will efficiently serve a master-planned hospital of 250 beds.

But the 250-bed hospital is still part of a future picture. Right now, Desert Hospital has barely half the minimum requirements for the resort area's estimated 1950 population.

The new bond issue — the third and largest hospital issue since 1950 — is charted to bridge the gap between demand and supply.

HOSPITAL DIRECTORS feel that only a bond issue can provide the necessary funds required to expedite this program as a solution to a problem fostered by a mushrooming population.

"We can't over-emphasize our problem," said Frank Bennett, chairman of the hospital's special bond issue committee. "We are racing against time to provide hospital facilities able to care for our growing population."

Basically, the problem is one of diminishing hospital space for the increasing number of patients derived from a proportionately expanding population.

THE PROBLEM IS compounded by a lack of immediate funds necessary to implement a hospital building program and the time required to put such a program to work, Bennett explained.

Bennett pointed out that any program designed to enlarge hospital facilities must be activated now to meet population needs dictated by the present and indicated for the future.

Hope Rests Up For Alaska Tour

Following "doctor's orders," comedian Bob Hope basked in the Palm Springs sun today as he prepared for his Sunday flight to Alaska where he'll entertain U.S. servicemen.

PLANNERS REVISE STREET ORDINANCE

The Planning Commission gave quick approval to proposed changes in Village zoning ordinances that set forth requirements for street improvements and dedications, and require provisions for compliance with applications for building permits, after an unopposed hearing yesterday.

Hy Ranes, city planning director, explained to the commission that new subdivisions have been covered under existing codes, but complete coverage requires digging through a multiplicity of ordinances.

THE CITY COUNCIL will consider the commission recommendations at its next Wednesday meeting.

The commission gave approval to an application by Hilda Kovary for a zone change from R-1a to R-2 for three lots at the southeast corner of Avenida Palos Verdes and The Palms.

The approval required a one-foot dedication to the city of frontage on The Palms, plus demolition of a building and granting of an additional ten-foot street dedication from the lot at the Palos Verdes-Palms intersection, plus dedication for a normal 20-ft. radius intersection curve.

Kovary also dedicated the full width of The Palms, which is his private property.

THE ZONE CHANGE brought heated opposition from neighbors, who apparently did not understand that the zoning commission had suggested the arrangement, when Kovary first requested an R-3 zoning for two lots facing Palos Verdes and Mell.

Commission chairman John Miller explained that the change was proposed by the commission to gain widening of Palos Verdes at the corner, maintenance of a one-story building restriction on the three lots involved, and maintenance of The Palms as a residential street without entrance to the Kovary's swimming pool.

THE COMMISSION continued the hearing on application by Lawrence Crossley for change of zone from G-R to R-3 for a five acre portion in Section 20, across from the Golf Course.

Crossley proposes 125 apartment units in multi-story construction in the recently-annexed spot. Continuance was granted for submission of site plan and tentative elevation. Commission members indicated a preference for one-story units. A zoning study of the area is in progress.

THE COMMISSION granted a conditional use permit to Lindy Lou's Pancake House for outdoor dining, with stipulation that landscaping, 30-inch walls where designated, and relocation of a power pole and palm trees be made.

In old business, the Commission denied the application of Samuel P. and Sophia Maloof for change of zone from R-1a to R-2 for lots 73, 74, and half of 75 of Tahquitz Park, Section 15, at the northeast corner of Baristo Road and San Jacinto Drive.

The commission directed the planning department to make a rezoning study of the entire area within the next six months.

THE APPLICATION of Stanley A. Rosin for change of zone from C-1 G-R to C-2 for lots 16 and 17 of section 22, on South Palm Canyon Drive south of Camino Parocela, was granted after more than an hour of discussion.

The approval included zoning of 150 feet on the west side of the area R-3 for parking. The action was taken in compliance with indications of the master plan, and in anticipation of continuance of Belardo Road south to the location.

Rosin urged the commission, "Be bold, and think big; don't be restricted by lack of precedent." The zoning was the largest plot of C-2 authorized by the commission.

NATO Chiefs Quit French, U.S. Squabble

Defense Policy Argument Shelved By 15 Ministers

PARIS (UPI) — NATO's 15 foreign ministers today shelved for the moment the French-American dispute over defense policy and adopted a four-point agenda for next spring's summit meeting with Russia. Disarmament led the list.

A NATO spokesman said the ministers picked the items they thought should head the program for the East-West talks — disarmament, Germany and the linked Berlin problem, East-West relations generally, and aid to underdeveloped countries.

THE MINISTERS, with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter present to prepare for this week-end's western summit talks, not only studied the topics to be considered in an East-West meeting but tactics the West should employ there.

The summit recommendations were contained in a report "as thick as a fist" prepared by western diplomats in a series of London meetings. Study of the proposals took priority today over the disputes plaguing NATO and reports the alliance was only at one-third strength.

THE ANGRY DEBATE over France's go-it-alone defense tactics was put aside while the council suggested means of netting a worthwhile arms control agreement out of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. Defense debate will be resumed in February or March, informants said.

The decision to give the Berlin-German question a secondary role at a summit meeting apparently was a victory for West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle. They had been cool to the idea of pinning success in easing the cold war on the difficult problem.

Police Search Started for 'Trusted Employee'

Palm Springs police today issued an all-points alert for the arrest of a "trusted" restaurant employee who was accused of taking $847 from his employer and a sports car from a local auto dealer.

Detective Lt. Robert White identified the suspect as Raymond Asinger, 34, sometimes kitchen waiter and office helper at the new Ethel's Highway restaurant in Deep Well.

White said Asinger apparently fled the city in a 1958 Corvette sports car allegedly taken from a local dealer with the pretense that he was "trying it out" before buying it.

Cotton Picker Slain Over Stew In Blythe Jungle

Special To The Desert Sun
BLYTHE — A brawl over a spilled pot of stew at a farm workers' campsite here ended in death yesterday for an elderly, unidentified transient cotton picker.

Sheriff's deputies arrested George Turman Jr., 29, another transient farm worker, on suspicion of murder.

Sheriff's Capt. Robert Presley, of Indio, said Turman told deputies that he stabbed the older man near the heart after he accidentally kicked a fire and spilled a stew Turman was making.

Turman said he pulled a knife he "always carried" and stabbed the victim when the older man had started a fight over the incident, Presley said.

The victim, whose age was estimated in the late 50's or early 60's, was pronounced dead on arrival at Blythe Hospital.

Apalchin Group Goes to Trial

NEW YORK (UPI) — The federal government's most massive effort to break the rackets syndicate since the days of Al Capone goes to the jury today in the trial of 20 accused conspirators at the notorious Apalchin, N.Y., meeting of 1957.

AF Tells Plane Forced Down

WESTOVER AFB, Mass. (UPI) — The Air Force confirmed today that a U.S. military plane was forced down by Dominican Republic fighter planes Tuesday.

OFFICIALS ARGUE WHO KILLED TOUHY

CHICAGO (UPI) — A Chicago police official said today "amateur" gunmen murdered pit-sized Roger Touhy, former prohibition era beer baron, but a U.S. attorney said the ambush shooting was the work of the Mafia, international crime ring.

Chicago Chief of Detectives John Ascher said he believed the shotgun killing was "the work of unskilled gunmen. They downed Touhy and a bodyguard on the steps of a West Side home, and Touhy died at a hospital."

ASCHER ALSO SAID he believed John (Jake the Barber) Factor, for whose kidnapping Touhy spent 22 years in prison, had nothing to do with the slaying.

U.S. Attorney James Ticken, however, issued a statement which implied that old gang rivalries were responsible — Touhy was a foe of the Al Capone gang during prohibition days — and said the slaying "fits into the Mafia pattern of making members keep their lips sealed." Traditionally, Mafia killers are regarded as skilled workmen.

"TOUHY MUST HAVE spoken at one time," Ticken said. "They killed him to impress other members that no matter how long it takes, they will seal your lips forever."

Factor, 63, the man whose testimony sent Touhy to prison for 25 years, voluntarily signed a two-page statement detailing his activities at the time of Wednesday night's slaying.

Touhy, 61, was gunned down at the home of his sister, Mrs. Ethel Alesia, only 23 days after his parole from an accumulated 238-year sentence for kidnapping Factor and later escaping prison. His bodyguard was critically wounded in a gun battle with two assassins.

FACTOR, a DAPPER Beverly Hills, Calif., real estate operator, went to a coroner's inquest accompanied by his attorney, Frank J.

McGarr, after questioning by police, but only as a formality.

Ascher said he was certain Factor's visit to Chicago was only coincidental with Touhy's death.

Touhy's bodyguard, Walter Miller, 62, who was a star defense witness at Touhy's trial for kidnapping Factor, shot five times at the gunmen and possibly wounded one before they fled.

FACTOR SAID HE came here Tuesday in connection with a libel suit he had filed against Touhy and was in a near North Side night club with a friend when Touhy was killed.

Factor told newsmen after talking to Ascher that he "made a voluntary statement and signed it voluntarily. I even cooperated to the extent of offering to pay Walter Miller's hospital bill," he said.

Motorist's Car Goes for Smoke

NORTH PALM SPRINGS — A 12:30 a. m. smoke this morning resulted in a lost car to Mario B. Pedraza, of Indio.

Pedraza had parked his 1948 Chevrolet couple of Indian Avenue just north of Highway 99, when he decided to light a cigaret. Gasoline vapors in the car ignited instead, causing an estimated $150 damage to the interior of the vehicle.

Crew Abandons Sinking Ship

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The crew of a sinking Liberia freighter bound for Honolulu radioed today it was abandoning ship 340 miles southwest of Los Angeles, the Coast Guard announced.

Two Bodies Found

SALTON SEA — Sheriff's deputies yesterday recovered the bodies of two members of a Thermal family of four, believed to have drowned during a Salton Sea windstorm Sunday.

The bodies of Clarence McClain, 46, and his son, Patrick, 7, were found floating on the sea late yesterday afternoon.

AN INTENSIVE land, sea and air search resumed this morning for Mrs. Helen McClain, 38, and 13-year-old Michael McClain, who deputies believe also perished when their boat was apparently engulfed by mountainous waves Sunday.

Indio Sheriff's Capt. Robert Presley said the bodies of the father and his youngest son were spotted late in the third day of search yesterday by an El Centro Navy helicopter and El Centro sheriff's plane.

STILL CLAD in water-logged life jackets, the bodies were picked up by deputy-manned boats about 1 1/4 miles off Charley's Beach near the State Park on the north shore.

The family's 12-foot outboard motor boat was found partially submerged about two miles offshore Tuesday.

THE McCLAINS were reported missing Sunday night after they failed to return from an outing on the sea.

Deputies said the family embarked on their pleasure cruise despite warnings that the sea was too rough. Later, 50-mile-an-hour winds churned up eight-foot waves across the 30-mile surface of the sea.

President Grave Over Algeria War

Eisenhower Spends 47 Minutes Ashore With Tunis Officials

ABOARD U.S.S. ESSEX (UPI) — President Eisenhower made a triumphant return to Tunisia today, scene of his first great World War II victory, and with President Habib Bourguiba reviewed with "grave anxiety" the shooting war in Algeria.

The President spent three hours and 47 minutes ashore. A communique issued afterwards said he and Bourguiba reached wide understanding in their talks, which included a discussion of more American aid for the new African republic.

THE QUESTION of Algeria was an especially touchy one since the French already are annoyed that the United States failed to support them in last week's Algerian debate in the United Nations.

The Algerian revolt, which France regards as strictly an internal affair, also is expected to come up in the talks later this week between Eisenhower and President Charles de Gaulle of France.

Eisenhower went ashore by helicopter to Tunis, and received a triumphant welcome on the eighth day of his 22,000 mile good will tour.

THEN HE RETURNED to the Des Moines by helicopter and resumed his journey toward France and a western summit conference.

The communique said the two presidents "concentrated particularly on the need to continue the efforts already made to consolidate peace and to reduce the causes of international tension."

They studied the situation created by the difficulties in Algeria, and agreed that the lack of a solution there is a cause for great concern in the world today.

Reception Set For President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A torch light reception is planned for President Eisenhower next Tuesday night when he returns from his 11-nation good will tour.

BONDS

"It will take almost two years to complete our expansion program," Bennett related. "We will be delayed by an additional one or two years if this bond issue fails."

"IT'S OBVIOUS that any such delay would cause a severe strain on already over-burdened hospital facilities," Bennett added.

Over-crowding has been regarded as something of an "occupational hazard" since the hospital opened its doors in 1951. Beds screened by roll-away curtains are a familiar sight in hospital corridors.

"If we don't get more room in the near future, we're liable to run out of corridor space," Bennett quipped.

CREATED BY A $300,000 bond issue passed in 1950, Desert Hospital started operations as a 32-bed unit. But even then, population burgeoned beyond the expectations of even the most far-sighted planners and a second bond issue, in 1957, provided $350,000 for expansion to a 57-bed unit.

Hospital requirements are based on a scale that calls for a minimum of 3½ beds for every 1,000 persons dwelling in the area served by the hospital.

ON THIS BASIS, Desert Hospital should have a minimum of 107 beds for an estimated population of 37,500 in 1960 — according to the results of a study conducted by architect Stewart Williams.

By this same criterion, Desert Hospital should have 162 beds, for 56,000 citizens, by 1965 and 240 beds, for 84,000 residents, in 1970.

Just how population growth has placed overbearing demands on hospital facilities, how the bond issue will alleviate the problem, what facilities the bonds will provide and how taxpayers will pay for the new expansion package will be detailed in succeeding articles.

HOME OWNERS LAUD CHIEF

Palm Springs Home Owners League today commended Police Chief August G. Kettmann and his department for the "excellently executed police job you did in the Charles E. Becker robbery case."

A police stakeout resulted in the slaying of one burglary suspect who was attempting to escape, and capturing of another. A third stationed in a car did elude authorities.

Home Owners League President B. F. Shearer said "I can well realize how badly you and all your other fine officers feel when it becomes necessary to take such drastic steps, but I sincerely believe this episode will give warning to all those in the criminal world to expect to be severely apprehended for any further attempts of robbery in this community."

"You are to be commended for the fine protection you and your staff are providing for the citizens of Palm Springs," Shearer added.

Children accompanied by one or both parents, or in the care of another adult, will receive gifts.

A teen-age dance, and later an adult dance will be held at the hall.

Following the party, Lions will fill Christmas baskets for distribution the following evening. The Lions invite contributions of fresh or canned foods for the Christmas basket project. Food gifts should be left at Welcome Hall prior to 5 p.m., Dec. 23.

The Dummy

Population Predictions

As most of the rest of the world sees us, the United States is still a comparatively young and not fully developed country.

As Americans we recognize that there is a great deal more room for improvement, growth and progress in our nation, which we likewise see as a fortunate and favorable circumstance.

Almost half of our continental domain, principally mountain and desert regions, is still relatively sparsely settled.

Therefore, as a people, we are not particularly concerned about the spiraling increase in world population. Rather we, especially in the vast open spaces of our semi-arid desert regions, depend upon and look forward to steady population gains as a solid assurance of future growth, development and prosperity.

However, when one contemplates seriously the problems of steadily rising populations in such heavily peopled nations as China, India and other world regions the reason for academic if not theoretical concern over world conditions for future generations becomes apparent.

With the population problem becoming a topic of international political consideration recent worldwide information is of general interest.

Hitting the high spots briefly: Eighteen children are born into the world, and nine people die, each five second period; every 2 hours total world population increases by 135,000 or 50,000,000 per year; rate of gain has jumped from less than 1 per cent at the turn of the century to 1.7 per cent today; resultant pyramiding will increase the present 2.9 billion to 4 billion by 1980 and double today's population by the year 2,000 with 6 billion.

Returning again to the United States it is estimated that it will be 100 years before "crowding" will occur on this continent and that meanwhile our steady growth will be one of the most favorable factors in domestic expansion and development.

For the desert, we are assured of a long period of progress.

Being "young and undeveloped, and, having three generations "advance notice" of the possible over population, we in the United States can only hope that time and experience will prove to be in our favor in reaching a sound solution.

Herter Hits His Stride

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Secretary of State Christian Herter, who started off like a one-inning pitcher, seems to have found himself and now looks as if he could pitch the whole way.

In his sixth press conference, shortly before going to Europe, the lanky, soft-spoken Secretary showed the hitherto missing signs of being master of a distinctive style and of making the reporters recognize it as his own.

TYPICALLY IN this immensely honorable and unobtrusive map, the improvement over past performances was not at all studied and not even very marked. The conference lasted only 22 minutes, ended when there was a lagging silence and did not send anybody sprinting for the nearest telephone or teletype. But the Secretary was good in there — he was very, very good, in his own fashion, which is very, very different from the fashions of former Secretaries Dulles and Acheson.

Mr. Herter, for the first time, I think asserted full command. Several reporters had questions to ask him about the Eisenhower triumphal tour, but the Secretary beat everybody to the punch. He opened the conference with a short ad lib statement which told us that Ike's popular reception surpassed all expectations while talks with heads of state, though not detailed or substantive, were proving useful.

WHEN ASKED WHAT plans he had to follow up these discussions, the Secretary expertly but without malice executed one of those bloodless decapitations which public men are often called upon to perform. He stilled a near-hecker by saying in effect that no special planning was necessary as the Ambassador in each country would carry on.

Ambassador? Over a period of many years, we had come to think of the American Ambassador as an unemployed outfielder who ought to be forced to pay his way into the ball park. Under Mr. Herter's predecessor, the Secretary himself or a high-powered trouble-shooter would be rushed to the spot. Mr. Herter was signaling a return to normal procedure.

AFTER THAT, THE Secretary was questioned on the NATO ministerial meeting and on Latin American relations. In previous conferences, Mr. Herter would begin nearly every response with a negative of sorts, and would then do his level best (so it seemed) to tell us nothing. But this time he went into full, factual and explorative answers, talking at length without mis-speaking or hesitation, yet slowly enough to permit note-taking. For instance, talking on Panama, the Secretary outlined four headings under which discussions and progress were going forward. He showed a personal familiarity with this slightly off-beat subject that one looks for in the specialist or "desk" man but hardly expects in the Secretary of State.

MR. HERTER WAS given numerous chances to deliver ringing, policy-forming, news-worthy pronouncements, but he declined them all. Somebody asked him about making "penal" use of our sugar agreements with Cuba. Having already declared the Department "unhappy" about the Castro regime, Mr. Herter did not dramatize.

He also passed up a chance to poke Egypt for excluding Israeli ships from the Suez Canal, and another chance to nudge NATO allies toward paying a fairer share of the joint costs.

and another chance to nudge NATO allies toward paying a fairer share of the joint costs.

THESE WERE NOT missed opportunities — they were samples of the Herter style. They were demonstrations that he intends to conduct the office not as his predecessors might wish, nor as his predecessors used to do, but as he himself feels to be the right way. Nobody could reasonably expect Mr. Herter to do things any other way, and the only questions in the past were these: Could he project himself effectively to the mixed American and Allied press, and would the press get over the early, undoubted antipathy to his way of doing things?

MR. HERTER'S projection and his methods are both embedded in the rock of one of the most commendable public characters of the past 20 years. Almost every Washington reporter must have a personal remembrance on this subject. I well recall going to Congressman Herter (R., Mass.) to get his opinion on a column which offered the thesis that President Truman, no longer enjoying the "consent of the governed," ought to vacate the office.

WHATEVER THE merit of the proposal, you might think that a Republican Congressman would endorse it. But not Herter! He gently pointed out its legal and Constitutional unsoundness to the disappointed but admiring columnist.

Well, this is the Herter way. To dissemble, to dramatize, to move a muscle toward a faulty position in order to please the press — quite impossible! Also quite likely to succeed!

Letters to the Editor

Editor
The Desert Sun
Desert Hot Springs taxpayers wish to express to you their sincere admiration and thanks for your splendid Editorial last Monday, Dec. 7, on the stand we have taken on the excessive and discriminatory tax situation here and elsewhere on the desert in this County.

You pull no punches, and we greatly appreciate your courage in expressing the truth on this matter of taxation. We feel that if all Editors were as courageous as you are, we would have this thing licked. Many newspaper editors have promoted great projects and reforms by stirring the public to action as you are attempting to do. Taxes is a problem that concerns all. It seems that Beaumont and Cherry Valley are up in arms too. This is a matter on which we should combine forces.

Dr. Compton and I were appointed as a committee by the president of the DHS Improvement Association to start the ball rolling in solving the tax situation. We are following through and Dr. Compton has written the County Board of Supervisors requesting a hearing.

It seems to me it would be to the advantage of all Chambers of Commerce and Real Estate Boards of this area (and Banning, Beaumont, and Cherry Valley, etc.) to send delegates or members who own property on which they know they are paying excessive taxes, to this hearing when the date is set. We hope early in January 1960. If we let down now we accomplish nothing. To wait until next May or June to individually file a complaint has but little effect on the overall picture. In fact, some of those who sought out the Board of Supervisors last July at a hearing of individual taxpayers were greatly disappointed in the result.

This is a matter for concerted action. Let us get together on this news. Recently in magazines, news articles and over TV we have read and heard of how this great tax problem all over our country can be remedied by unified action, and it has been suggested what course to follow to attain this end. But usually each one hopes that his neighbor will take the initiative. Let us awaken from our lethargy and each do his share in saving our homes and state and country from being taxed out of existence.

Very truly yours,
EVELYN C. KNUDSEN
Member of Public Relations Committee
DHS Improvement Association

STAN DELAPLANE:

Merry Christmas, Inc.

In case you are wondering, corporate Christmas presents are deductible. Merry Christmas, corp. Merry Christmas, Inc.

I get little jewels like this from my Christmas mail. "A gift subscription to 'Loop-holes' may be just the thing for that Man Who Has Everything. 'Loop-holes' tells you how to compute your taxes to the best advantage."

LOOPHOLES, I gather, is the Infantry Journal of the corporate captains.

Reduce your taxes. Give a fruit cake. Well, in this popcorn-and-fire-side season, it is nice to think that both the Almighty and the Federal Tax man loveth a cheerful giver.

APPROPRIATE GIFTS at Christmas can be used to lighten next year's tax load.

The word "appropriate" is lacking an appropriate definition. If you ask me, appropriate gifts caused a great deal of talk this last year on the picture-tube circuit. I suspect this Christmas will be a thoughtful one. Scrooge will put a little less coal on the fire.

MOST CORPORATIONS give fruit cake. For a number of years I was on a fruit-cake list for an airline — as a verb-adjective reporter I never rose above the calendar list and the first fruit cake really made me break down. I knew I had it made at last.

Anyway, fruit cakes are certainly a good one. THEY ARE FOR the Man Who Has Everything. Because this Man rarely has a fruit cake. If you doubt me, look in the cupboard. Do you have a fruit cake? Of course not.

You can give a fruit cake to almost anybody who has everything. And you are pretty sure not to duplicate. Most people don't have fruit cakes because they are not high on fruit cakes. That is a good reason to give them one. You have to give an awful lot of fruit cakes to get any tax relief.

OF FIRMS REPORTING on their Christmas intentions, 67 per cent give presents to customers, 18 per cent to dealers, 27 per cent to distributors, 28 per cent to employees.

After fruit cakes, the favorite gift is office equipment. Those little desk calendars and pencil sets and little books to keep dates in. Only you can never find it because somebody tore out some pages to make a grocery list on.

ONLY 10 PER CENT give liquor. That is a sober note and the report declares: "Many corporations find liquor inappropriate as a gift since much depends on the receiver's attitude on drinking."

I do not think this is the reason at all. I think corporation executives keep it and lush it up themselves. They are Men Who Have Everything and intend to keep it.

I AM A CORPORATION. That is, I have a corporation though it is a kind of lonesome little thing and I don't do much with it.

Anyway, I have this corporate body and am grateful for all this advice on what it should give for Christmas. My corporation will probably give fruit cakes — it is a non-drinking corporation but is always willing to take a gingerale and say, "No, I'll get it," when the check comes around.

It is a good-hearted corporation. It will give heavily to its employees.

AT PRESENT, I am the only employee. So that works out well. It has no customers. We can forget them. Likewise no dealers, no distributors.

I think this corporation had better give a GOOD fruit cake. Maybe a fruit cake stuffed with $20 bills. All that and tax relief, too. And a gift subscription to Loop-holes. All's well that ends well.

Takes Suspension

HOLLYWOOD — Carol Lynley, Fox's "Blue Denim" doll, tells me she's taking a suspension from Fox rather than play Bing Crosby's juvenile delinquent doll in the studio's "Daddy-O." The title is "too square," too, for audiences of 1960, when the picture will be released. Gosh, I guess all of us square-type hipsters will have to quit using the expression, and here I thought I was right in the swim of things.

Pardon the intrusion of a grim subject during the Yuletide season — but Hollywood right now is having the most fantastic infiltration of "call house madams" in years. The dames are all seeking the services of young, attractive, down-on-their-luck movie aspirants. The D.A. has an investigating team toiling to clean up the callgirl racket as of right now.

BEVERLY ADLAND maintains, despite her nightclub cut-ups, she's still in mourning for Errol Flynn — like switching from blue to black mascara? All Tuesday Weld wanted for Christmas was her two front teeth capped. Santa Claus (disguised as her dentist) has already granted her wish. I'm not sure I'm "with" it but this is the word-for-word quote I picked up from Shelley Winters on the set of "Let No Man Write My Epitaph" at Columbia Studios: "I've been away from Hollywood so long I feel like a spider on a wedding cake."

Marie Windsor tells me this is ONE Christmas when the nation's disk jockeys will be gnat-rapped.

GINA LOLLOBRIGIDA has got to be the cleanest girl in movies this year. She takes a bath in "Solomon and Sheba," also in "Never So Few." Neither picture is any great shakes as entertainment, and if you could take a trip to, say, Naples or Madrid you would see more of Lollo as "Sheba" than you'll see in the U.S. prints of the picture — she's stark, staring stripped for the foreign market... So? So her next Hollywood picture will be "Go Naked in the World."

Charlie Herbert churned up so much charm in "Houseboat" (remember the footage this expert scene-stealer pilfered right out from under Cary Grant's classic profile?) he's getting his just dues with a much bigger part in "Dark at the Top of the Stairs."

THEIR CONFIDANTES claim the "engagement" of Millie Perkins and Dean Stockwell is "strictly for publicity" and forecast it will last as long as Dean can squeeze publicity out of it for his next picture, "Sons and Lovers."

Hostess to actress visiting her expensive Pasadena pad: "It IS a lovely antique lamp, isn't it? And not easy to get — it took six months for me to save up enough green stamps!"

CHANNEL CHATTER — Lucille Ball's big ambition, as far as Broadway is concerned, is to play the part of a "Boris Karloff-type lady monster." Redheaded starlet June Blair balked at the red flannel underwear they gave her to wear on Johnny Grant's Christmas junket to entertain our troops in the Orient. Pouted she: "It clashes with my hair!" But she's off into the wild blue anyway, clash or no clash.

WITH GOWER Champion giving up his dancing career to act as choreographer on TV specs, his ever-lovin' Marge is hanging up her dancing pumps too, in favor of straight dramatic and comedy acting from now on. Smart, these two. A dancer's life is a rough one.

Andy Griffith growls: "No wonder Nielsen is giving all his top ratings to the Western shows on TV — I understand his staff is running out of people and has started phoning horses!"

RIP TORN POPPED out of his Playhouse 90 and tore right back to New York to replace Paul Newman as Geraldine Page's young lover in "Sweet Bird of Youth" while Paul films "From the Terrace" for 20th-Fox.

It was a tense location site when Judi Meredith finished filming her final segment as Earl Holliman's leading lady in the Hotel de Paree boss opera series. Judi had made so many statements to the press about her unhappiness in the series that her producer "rewarded" her with one line of dialogue as her swan song — and out in the open, where the sunlight is nowhere near as flattering to an actress as studio lighting!

ROSS BAGDASARIAN'S "Chimpunk" album has chalked up sales of 256,000 so far. And Ross the Rich tells me, "I feel so good, I think I'll just go out and buy all the Saturdays in 1960!"

You haven't been hearing or seeing much of Smilin' Jack Smith because — but here's the reason from Jack himself: "I hate to see the decline and fall of anything, even including some of those no-talent rock-n-roll singers, but I must say I'm all in favor of the payola probe. It's been a long wait for 'straight singers' like myself — but it's been ALMOST worth all the agony."

GWEN HARMON, who wails a wicked ballad at Dino's Lodge, is going on loanout from her boss, Dean Martin, for her first acting stint in a 77 Sunset Strip segment.

I visited comedian Dick Shawn on the set of the TV-nightclub star's first movie, "Wake Me When It's Over." He told me, "I'd like to make more movies. Can you put in a word for me at Metro for a part in 'The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse'?" After all, I used to play a little football, and I was always a great fan of Knute Rockne!

P.S.: Rita Shawn, setsiding alongside me to watch her spouse emote, told me they're expecting their fourth little comedian along about mid-January.

Title: The Black Stallion Mystery

Author: Walter Farley

Illustrator: Walter Farley

What I Liked: I liked the part when Alec Ramsey found the secret tunnel where the horse, Firetail, was being kept. Firetail is the black stallion's sire. Alec thought he was dead. But someone killed Firetail while trying to kill the Black Stallion. He found out that it was Tabari, the princess of an Arabian country, who was trying to kill the Black Stallion because the Black Stallion had killed her father, and she wanted to get even. So now there will never be any horse like the Black Stallion again.

Xi Theta Eta Yule Party at Read Home

Among the many delightful pre-Christmas parties that add lustre to the holiday season was the one which Xi Theta Eta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held Monday evening at the Calle Rolph home of Dorothy Read.

The Read home had been artistically decorated for Christmas season. Holly sprigs were used and a spotlight shone on the star that topped the Christmas tree.

A revised version of "Twas the Night Before Christmas", written and recorded by Ray Hayes, husband of Club member Margaret Hayes, was played. In the poetic rhythm of the original composition, Old Saint Nick visited each home, only to find all Club members missing, and finally discovered them all gathered at the Read home, leaving gifts from his pack for each and everyone. . . . And with the "Merry Christmas to all . . . and to all a good night" he added a wish for a bountiful New Year and success to sorority activities.

Refreshments too were in the yuletide theme, with eggnog in a white punch bowl, plates of fruit cake, nuts and holiday candies.

Members enjoying the hospitality of the Read home included president, Ileen Burkholder, Dorothy Beardshall, Bernie Bortoff, Marjorie Griffith, Margaret Hayes, Marilyn Mason, and Margie Thatcher.

A "Happy Landings" toast was proposed for Marjorie Griffith who is jetting to Chicago to spend the holidays with her family.

The next meeting will be held January 11 at the home of Margie Thatcher, when plans for a special workshop will be discussed.

Distinguished Londoner Here for Visit at Racquet Club

John Mills of Les Ambassadors Club in London, and his son Robert are spending a few days at the Racquet Club as the guests of their long-time friend Charlie Farrell. Bob Hope, who is also a friend of Mr. Mills, joined him, as well as Virginia and Charles Farrell for cocktails at the club on Sunday.

Allan Tomblin of Beverly Hills, with whom Charlie Farrell recently traveled to Florida and Jamaica, has been spending a few days here as the guest of the Farrells.

Among Villagers enjoying the weekend tennis were Marge and Jack Lambert, Glenn Austin, and Fred Morrison. Jackie (Mrs. William) Otto came over for luncheon on Saturday. On Sunday, Gretchen and Waltah Clarke lunched with Anton Dalu.

Saturday night diners included Louise and Lionel Steinberg, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Jaloff, Joyce and Al Linnick, Mary Morrison and Ray Ryan also dropped in Saturday night.

Joanne and Arthur Coffey were among the many guests enjoying Sunday night buffet.

Sol C. Siegel and Sam Spiegel, two of Hollywood's top producers, were among the weekend guests.

Satchel-size bags will be carried into spring. The trend to novelty in fabrics continues: prints, tapestries, textured leathers and even the upholstered look.

WOMEN of the Desert

Celebrates Birthday at Oasis Hotel

Oasis Hotel was the setting for a birthday party which honored John Ackerman on the occasion of his 12th birthday.

Gathered to celebrate the occasion were his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Roth Day of Palm Springs, his mother, Mrs. Carl E. Ackerman, (daughter of the Days, who is here from her home in Seattle for a family holiday reunion), and his sister Cheryl Ackerman. Mr. and Mrs. Day are also former residents of the northern city. The Ackermans are staying at the Oasis Hotel during their desert visit.

Johnny Boyle, popular cowboy singer who entertains each week at the Oasis's Sunday night buffet, was on hand to sing "happy birthday" to John as he blew out the shining candles on his birthday cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Hess of Long Beach are also staying at Oasis for their desert vacation. They have been enjoying terrace lunches and the popular Sunday night buffet as have other vacationers including Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Link of El Monte, Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Becket, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Sheldon, Santa Monica; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Irvin, Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. Eric Fris of Mt. Kisco, New York, who are friends of villagers; Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Williams; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dyer, San Mateo; and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Pachal of Chilliwack, British Columbia.

VFW Post Plans Holly Hop and Potluck Dinner

The Holly Hop will be held Saturday, December 19, at 8:30 p. m. Tickets at $1.50, which includes refreshments, may be purchased from the Post and Auxiliary members or at the door.

The other event is a potluck dinner Sunday at 5 p. m., when Santa Claus will be present to distribute gifts to the children of Post and Auxiliary members.

Further details may be obtained by calling Robert Laker at FA 4-3823.

New Exhibit Occasions Sunday Tea

The Desert Art Center was the scene of lively activity Sunday afternoon when Writers' Guild, a subsidiary of the Art Center, served tea and refreshments to a large number of members and guests on the occasion of the hanging of a new art exhibit. Most of the artist members were showing new paintings.

The tea table centerpiece, a desert garden in a low bowl, contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Chester (Cactus Slim) Moorten, was also much admired. In line with the holiday season, a Christmas grab-bag was enjoyed.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Paul Adelman, chairman of the Writers' Guild, and Mrs. Merle Guise, who headed a hospitality committee which included Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Weatherholt and Mmes. Alice Koenig, Lucille Jacoby and Firne Webb.

Banning Woman Trains Seeing Eye Dogs

By EDITH FREDERICKS

"The one absolutely unselfish friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog. A man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer, he will lick the wounds that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince."

Eulogy of the dog by George P. West.

Those who live in Banning have seen the attractive young girl who is always walking rapidly, always with a large Shepherd dog. We have also seen her in Redlands and Riverside. For several months, we have been speaking as we passed each other in Banning. One evening we were both in the drug store at the same time and both looking for a magazine we wanted. Her dog was with her.

"What kind of work do you do," she asked "that you walk so much? You never seem to sit down but you are always walking."

We told her we were a reporter, always looking for a good story. "Now tell me what you do, you always have a guide dog with you but I know you aren't blind." When she told me about her work, we knew we had found a story, many would enjoy.

The girl's name is Lee Muhlberg, and she is the only woman in the United States who trains guide dogs. Women have done it in Belgium, Switzerland and Germany, but Americans are slower to accept women trainers. Lee told us she appreciates the friendly interest of the residents of Banning and hoped they never felt she was brusque or discourteous but when she is "working a dog," it is not good to stop and chat with any one, much as she would like to do it. When Lee has a dog with her, though she may seem to be merely walking, she is constantly teaching the dog. That is what she means when she says she is "working the dog." It makes it easier to teach the dog, when she doesn't stop, interrupting the lesson.

Lee sometimes walks, with her eyes closed or with a blindfold on. She does this, to test the dog's progress, under realistic conditions, such as crossing the street in traffic or avoiding obstacles.

"If you think it is easy to be propelled along at the rate of four to five miles an hour, in blindfold, I'll be happy to have you try it," Lee said. Lee said she is especially grateful to Stewart Weist, Supervisor of training of Eye dog foundation. "Mr. Weist is not only the greatest I have ever met in this profession, but his genuine down-to-earthness, his absolute fairness and unfailing sense of humor have made him invaluable to both the blind students and the school personnel."

Lee Muhlberg was born on a farm on Long Island, New York, a long way from the Eye Dog Foundation in Cherry Valley, California. She was born with an inherent love for animals. From the days when she was a little girl, she said, her fondest dream was to have a horse of her own. It took years of pleading, arguing with her father who finally gave in. Lee thinks it may have been exhaustion, on her father's part but at last she had the horse. She worked after school and weekends to earn enough "To support the horse" for Rambler was the answer to Lee's dreams. Naturally, many problems came up. Lee had never read any books on training a horse, and things became puzzling, she sat down and thought what she would do, how she would react if she were a horse. Evidently, her system worked.

It was during this time, Lee began to realize the thing she longed to do more than anything else, was to find a position where she would work with animals. It hadn't yet narrowed down to working with dogs.

After graduating from high school, Lee worked at a number of different jobs. She trained race horses, managed show dog kennels; and took a position as assistant to a veterinarian. But — she felt there was always something missing, something she hadn't yet found.

Shortly before her 20th birthday, Lee heard of a school where guide dogs for the blind were trained. Believing this was the work she had been seeking, she applied for the job and listened, fascinated, as the director of the training, described the work, the complications, the many problems that arose, sometimes with the dogs, sometimes with the blind person.

Lee thought this was a job made to order for her but her enthusiasm was dampened somewhat, when she was told that no woman had ever been accepted by the school. It was explained to her, that it was a great expense to train the trainer and that women were not emotionally and physically able to withstand the pressure.

Lee continued to plead for a chance, and since no man had been found whom they could accept, they finally decided to try her. That was all Lee wanted and she dug in. Lee seems to have found the work she loves. Not long ago the dogs Lee had trained were ready for their blind masters. Lee has been working with the new owners of the dogs. It must be a tug for her to give up the dogs she has been with so long.

Occasionally, Lee has been in Banning, with the dogs and their new blind masters. When telling about her work, she spoke of Panda as a clown, because of her sense of humor; Nina is a beautiful creamy white dog. Lee says it's sheer pleasure to Nina to please people, with this trait of wanting to please people, Nina is always pleasing, too.

Lee says two questions people invariably ask are "How are the dogs trained?" Lee says that is like asking how to build a battleship. It cannot be answered in one sentence, probably not in one book, about battleships. "Who is eligible to have these dogs?" is often asked. Basic requirements to receive a guide dog: The applicant must be in good physical condition. He must be able to adjust to the dog, for all dogs are different, as all people are different. The dog must never at any time be neglected or abused.

CC Christmas Decoration Fete Set for Tuesday

Officers of the Cathedral City Chamber of Commerce announced this week that judging in the community's annual Christmas Decoration contest will take place next Thursday evening.

Sponsored annually by the chamber, prizes will be awarded to the winners in four different categories: commercial on Highway 111, commercial off the highway, residential, and trailer parks. The program is offered as an incentive to residents of the area from Beckley's to Blue Skies Trailer Village to decorate their homes, trailers and places of business, and ties in with Cathedral City's Broadway decorations.

For the third consecutive year Broadway has been decorated with four overhead strands of decorations and lights, funds for which were donated by community businessmen under the able direction of Ben Scott.

In addition to the main street lighting and the residential, commercial contest, the town will also display a community Christmas Tree this year.

Residents and businessmen who decorate for the annual contest are urged to have their displays lighted early Tuesday evening for the judging.

Winners will be announced next Thursday, following which awards will be presented. Additional details are available at the chamber's Broadway office, telephone FAirview 8-1213.

Formosan Eyes CC, Desert Areas

A young man is currently on Formosa, waiting for the time when he might have a chance to visit historic Palm Canyon, Cathedral City, Joshua Tree, Palm Springs — and other Desert items of interest.

He's Wei Ping Chang, editor of the Voice of Free China.

HIS KNOWLEDGE of the Desert came from magazines, sent to him by Mrs. Rose McMahon, 757 A Street, Cathedral City. Mrs. McMahon, answering an appeal by KNXT for "magazines to Asia," received Chang's name and corresponded with him besides sending magazines.

Checking over the pictures in the magazines, he was very much impressed with the Desert, and listed in point of order 10 things he definitely wanted to do if he ever was able to visit here.

The ceremonies also included the induction of "tenderfoot" scouts Mike Franklin, John Leach, Jerry Becraft and David Dobbs. Tenderfoot Dick Lake, absent because of illness, was inducted "by proxy."

A POTLUCK DINNER for scouts and their families preceded the ceremony conducted at Town Hall. Orvil Zappe presented a talk on scout laws and the benefits of the scouting program.

Duke Patane, Chris Anderson, Dan Knowlton and Tom Hollister conducted a flag ceremony prior to the awards program.

THE CANDLELIGHT ceremony involves the use of one candle as a symbol for the spirit of scouting, 12 candles to represent the 12 scout laws and three candles for the three points of the scout oath.

The program was conducted by Scoutmaster Russell Snyder, aided by assistant scoutmasters Marion Woody, Tom Anderson, and George Richardson, and committee chairmen Ralph Hammer and George Miller, institutional representative from the Lions Club.

CC Postmaster Cites Increase in Yule Mailing

CATHEDRAL CITY — Postmaster Al Patane today reported that outgoing mail this Christmas season has increased approximately 10 per cent over last year, and incoming mail also is up considerably.

He urged residents of this area to cooperate with the Post Office Department by mailing cards and packages early and often.

The increase here is above a recent sampling by the Post Office Department in several major cities across the country. Patane said. The survey showed increases from two to five per cent.

EARL WILSON

Sammy, Jr. 'Best Man' For Frank?

NEW YORK — The society notes should be reading very soon that Sammy Davis Jr. officially announces that Frank Sinatra will be best man at his wedding.

"Well, he should — after Sammy flew all the way from Australia—36 hours in the air via Baghdad, Karachi, Beirut, Zurich and London — to sub for him at a ball for Sen. Kennedy's pet charity at the Hotel Plaza.

"I was in Honolulu on the way to Sidney," Sammy explained at the Plaza later while all the social millionaires were milling around, "when Frank phoned and asked me if I would mind coming back by way of Asia and Europe to play this date for him. Naturally, I was very glad." (It was only a matter of 14,000 miles.)

Sammy, his conductor, drummer and valet arrived at his Plaza suite off a Pan-Am plane around 11 p.m.

Sammy got into a tight-fitting wild west outfit (prescribed costume for the Retarded Children benefit) and came to the ballroom — to be seized by Sen. Kennedy who demanded he sit down and have a drink before going on.

He must have kept the Plaza's famous old lady tenants tossing in their beds. He was doing impersonations and called for a glass. "Dean Martin," he said. He then showed how fast he is on the draw — and he is. "Let Harry Belafonte do that!" he said.

It was his 34th birthday. (He was born in Harlem Hospital.) He entertained in his Plaza suite afterward. He'll be married to Joan Stewart around Valentine's Day at the Las Vegas Sands and Sinatra will really and truly be his best man, he said. His uncle, Will Mastin, said, "I hope so. Frank was supposed to be best man at Sammy's last wedding, too."

FLASH: THERE'LL BE A NYC INVESTIGATION OF B'WAY TICKET BROKERS' "ICE" — THE EXTRA DOUGH CHARGED FOR HOT TICKETS — AND OF "THE BLOOD BANK" — THE HOT TICKET CLEARING HOUSE.

CLARK'S FINAL LECTURE TONIGHT

To mark the occasion of his final public lecture in the current Adventures in Living series, John Robert Clarke will speak on "How to Play Games with Zen Buddhism" at 8 p.m., tonight, in the Desert Inn.

Clarke, now in his sixteenth series of lecture-forums in San Diego and his second here in the Village, will consider why a 1,000-year-old Oriental philosophy has suddenly become the most discussed and "cultified" fad to come out of the East in modern times.

IN SPOTLIGHTING the peculiar

Zen way of looking at life, Clarke will seek to provide a perspective from the time of Bodhidharma, reputed founder of the sect, to our own hour of Zenism among university classrooms, beatnik "pads" and coffee houses.

"Many of us," Clarke said, "are today being influenced by Zen in a variety of ways without the faintest idea of this profound influence from the East." He pointed out that much of our landscape gardening, interior decoration, painting and sculpture — as well as the current interest in judo — are products of Zen teachings.

INCLUDED in Thursday's lecture will be the reading and interpreting of recent Zen poetry from East and West in terms of insights they reveal in our own quest for larger enjoyment of life.

The talk is open to the public and will be followed by refreshments and the Great Circle Discussion which has become a trademark of the local series.

Yankees Will be Up There

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International
TOKYO (UPI) — The Yankee

collapse of 1959 was "just one of those things," jolting Joe DiMaggio asserted today, and the Bronx Bombers will be back at the top of the baseball heap next season. "It happened to us in 1940, after we had won four in a row," explained the one-time Yankee clipper as he made a tour of U. S. military bases in the Far East. "They were all screaming 'break up the Yankees' and then we blew it, for no obvious reason. But we came back too, just as they'll do next season."

WHAT HAPPENED to the Yankees last season is the question most asked of DiMaggio as the former Yankee hitting star makes a tour of military installations.

"I guess that the second most frequently asked question is whether Ted Williams will play next season," smiles the handsome Hall of Fame outfielder who retired after the 1951 season.

"All I can say is that anybody's guess is as good as mine," DiMaggio adds. "But I would have to guess, as a former ballplayer and thinking as a former ballplayer, that he will decide to give it one more try."

HE COULDN'T WANT to quit a loser and, after all, he's entitled to one bad year. You can bet he'll be better this time around and then, probably will call it a career."

DiMaggio, who came out of San Francisco to become one of baseball's greatest players, isn't sorry he decided to quit even though he could have continued several more years at a salary of $100,000 a year while calling his own shots.

"I'm enjoying the work I'm doing, even though it calls for a great deal of travel," said DiMaggio, whose once coal-black hair now is flecked with gray.

DIMAG IS A FIELD MAN for the V. H. Monette and Company, which services military installations with canned and frozen edibles. As their field representative he has in the last six weeks appeared in Honolulu, Guam, Okinawa, Hong Kong, Taipei, Manila and throughout Japan.

The chief other interest of the rangy, fit man is his son, Joe Jr., now 16 and a student at Lawrenceville Prep school in New Jersey.

"He's a big boy," Joe glows, "and while he doesn't seem to show too much interest in baseball, he's a bearcat in football. Plays center on the football team, y'know, and is a kicking specialist on points after touchdown and field goals. The kid is doing real great, I'm happy to say."

Tribe Beats San Jac Twice

Varsity Romps 56-36; Bs Win Squeaker, 26-24

Palm Springs took a pair of basketball games from San Jacinto High on the local floor last night, the Indian Varsity romping to a 56 to 36 win and the Bee team taking a squeaker, 26 to 24.

Bill Ivey and Marty Berk went on a scoring binge last night, each bucketing 18 points.

Coach Jim Workman tried out ten players in the Varsity fray, substituting liberally after the Tribe went into a 24-14 lead at half time.

IT WAS THE FIRST

Indian win this season, their first three games being with larger schools and older experienced men. The Tribe went into an early lead and with the exception of the final period which was even, had comfortable leads. In the third period they scored 18 points. The Bee game was a real thriller, the Papoose five taking the lead in the second period to lead at the half, 15-10.

IN THE THIRD, San Jac came back strong and cut the margin to 20-18 on Palm Springs. The final period saw the local Bees stalling to protect their slim lead and San Jac fighting hard to overcome the two point deficit. Lawrence, who went in as a replacement, and Edwards were high for the locals with 6 each, Taylor had 3, Morrison, 4, Heuck, 5, and Baker, 2.

Banks Top Man In Fielding, Too, Figures Reveal

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—Everyone always talks about Ernie Banks' bat, but official 1959 fielding figures today revealed him to be the No. 1 defensive man in the National League.

The slugging Chicago Cubs' shortstop broke two major league defensive records last season and both marks may stand for a long time.

Banks' .985 fielding average was the highest ever compiled by a major league shortstop and the 12 errors he committed were the fewest ever made during a single season by a regular major league shortstop.

CLOSEST ONE TO BANKS in the field was Milwaukee shortstop Johnny Logan, who had a .975 average and 13 misuses. Gil Hodges of the Dodgers led the league's first basemen in fielding for the third time in his career with a .992 average and team-mate Charley Neal was high man among the second basemen with a .989 percentage.

Jim Davenport of the Giants posted the highest average among third basemen, .978, and Gus Bell of the Reds led all the outfielders with .996. Wally Post of the Phillies was the second best fielding flycatcher with .992 and Bill Bruton at the Braves followed with .991.

Left-hander Harvey Haddix of the Pirates handled 43 chances without an error to lead all pitchers with a 1.000 average.

Neves Returns To Saddle With Winning Effort

SAN MATEO (UPI) — Ralph Neves, a gallant jockey who has twice almost been killed on the track, returned to racing for the first time since May 30 Wednesday and promptly brought in a winner.

He delighted the big Bay Meadows crowd of 9,032 fans by capturing the third race aboard Pez Vela. It was his first race since he suffered near fatal injuries in a spill at Hollywood Park. His return here occurred on the same track on which he was once officially pronounced dead after a brutal spill in 1936. But he returned from that one, too, to riding glory.

THE 41-YEAR-OLD Neves, who has booted home 3,265 winners during his long and turbulent career, was honored in pre-race ceremonies. Entertainer Jimmy Durante served as master of ceremonies and presented Neves with a huge copper plaque listing his stakes victories. Neves wept openly as his friends of the turf world praised his courageous comeback.

In the main feature, the Ralph Neves Purse, Neves provided an anticlimax by finishing last. Winner of the race was Whiz Bam, ridden by Johnny Burton. Field Day finished second and Bouillabaisse third in the six-furlong sprint for three-year-olds. Time for the six furlongs was 1:10 1-5 with the winner returning $10.60.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Our granddaughter, 21, has made her home with us for years. She is a good, sincere, intelligent girl who has a fine position. She is saving her money. She's deeply in love with a man, 24, who has been home from the Navy for three years. He hasn't worked three months in all that time. We see his mother pulling weeds and mowing the lawn. He sleeps until noon, drives the family car around and doesn't look for a job.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is very sensitive because he can't read very fast or very well. He was taught to read by sight, but she's feeling. While the opinions of well-meaning friends may reach her ears, they will never penetrate her brains, because her brains are trapped in her heart. Let her alone, Grandmother, and pray she comes to her senses before it's too late.

DEAR WIFE: There is no "shame" in not knowing. Only in refusing to learn. Find out if your Public School system offers adult education courses. Almost all communities have evening classes for adults who wish to learn elementary reading, writing and arithmetic.
